CIGARETTE SMOKING HASTENS CHILDREN'S EAR DISEASE

Chicago - Cigarette smoke around the house contributes to the development of chronic middle ear disease in children, physicians have reported.

"The risk increases with more long term exposure," they said in the Journal of the American MedicalAssociation.

Middle-ear effusions-fluid build up in the ear-are common in children, particurlarly after an infection, said Dr. Michael J. Kraemer and colleagues at Seattle's Children's Orthopedic Hospital and Medical Center's Division of Allergy.

"Most effusions resolve after several weeks, but some persist relentlessly, causing hearing loss and associated language, behavioral and learning deficits," they said.

"Each year in the United States, an estimated 1 million operation take place in which tympanostomy tubes are inserted for persistent middle-ear effusions."

The researchers found three factors involved in children with persistent middle-ear effusions nasal congestion, exposure to household cigarette emoke and a prediposition to certain allergies.

"The risk for middle-ear effusions was greatest when these three factors were all present," they said.

"Exposure to two or more household cigarette smokers increased the risk for persistent middle ear effusions (PMEE) nearly threefold. With household exposure to smoke from more than three packs of cigarettes per day, the risk increased fourfold," Kraemer said.

PRESIDENT JACKSON ?

The Rev. Jesse Jackson is considering a candidacy in the Democratic presidential primaries.

"We would make a mistake going any further with a general election strategy in primary season," he said.

"If we run we may lose. If we don't run, we are guaranteed to lose."

Jackson said several conditions must be met before he makes up his mind.

"At this point I am simply advocating that someone (Black) goes (into the primaries)."

REAGAN CONSIDERING BOOSTING NUMBER OF U.S. MILITARY IN EL SALVADOR

President Reagan is considering boosting the number of U.S. military advisors in El Salvador and changing their role in response to growing Soviet moves in Central America, a White House Offical said.

A senior offical aboard Reagan's Air Force One, who asked not to be identified told reporters on a flight to California that four weeks ago Reagan ordered a full review of U.S. Policy toward Central America, including whether to raise the number of advisers and change their operating rules.

The offical said no decision has been made, there are 37 U.S. military advisers now in El-Salvador and the administration is operating under a limit of 55. The offical said the Soviets have 100 advisers in neighboring Nicaragua and there are 2,000 Cuban advisers in the area.

JUSTICE DEPT. TO STUDY ALLEGATION U.S. HELPED BARBIE

Washington-The Justice Department said today that it would conduct a full investigation into allegations that the United States Government asssisted Klaus Barbie, a twice convicted Nazi war criminal, to escape to Bolivia after World War 2.

The Department said that it viewed the allegations "with deep concern" and that an initial review of Government files indicated that the assertions "have sufficient merit to warrant a comprehensive investigation."

The announcement came after days of maneuvering that included a message from William P. Clark, the national security adviser, to attorney General William French Smith urging him to reverse an earlier refusal and conduct an inquiry into the Barbie case.

Mr. Barbie, the Gestapo Chief of Lyons from 1942 to 1944, was extradited from Boliva to France last month to face charges of wartime murders. He was twice convicted in absentia.

Recent published accounts have suggested that Mr. Barbie was protected and paid by American intelligence agencies after the war and that he made trips to several American cities in 1969 and 1970.

According to authoritative accounts by Justice Department officials, Mr. Smith last week overruled the recommendations of some aides and rejected an investigation into the Barbie case on the ground that after all the years no prosecution was likely to result.

Historic Preservation Funds For Wash. State

The U.S. Department of the Interior has awarded grants to states for historic preservation activities, including a total of $214,097 for projects in Washington State, Rep. Norm Dicks said Wednesday.

The funds are for the current fiscal year and can be used immediately, Dicks said.

The funds were made available to strengthen the capability of States and Territories to protect historic resources," he said. The grants-in-aid may be used for a broad range of activities, including historic property inventories, assuring compliance with federal preservation requirements and for incentives to those seeking to protect historic resources.

The grant funds may not be used for property acquisition, capital improvements, or projects not approved by the Department of the Interior.

Dicks said that the grants are administered in Washington State through a state Office of Historic Preservation, and that they could assist high priority planning projects such as Union Station in Tacoma.

In addition to the individual state grants, the Interior Department announced the release of $3.4 million to the National Trust for Historic Preservation, the coordinating organization for historic preservation activities around the country.

The Administration has twice attempted to eliminate the state grants program, proposing no budget appropriations. Funds were restored by congressional committees,

TACOMA FACTS BRINGS TO IT'S READERS, THE COMIC STRIP STARBIRD.

BITS & PIECES

By Roger O.

This remark has been repeated many times in my article. What are we going to do about the young people in our community. They say that they don't have any place to go or nothing to do. That is a far cry from the truth. There are plenty of wholesome things for them to do and places to go. There is the Peoples Community Center, Southend Neighorhood Center, Eastside Center, and the Boys & Girls Club in their neighorhood.

Let's talk about the Al Davies Boys & Girls Club where I work. This club has and produces the finest programs and special events in the state. We put our local talent to work expose them on television and radio, and introduce various other programs to them.

The Al Davies Boys & Girls Club has the lowest membership of the other three existing clubs. Per capita, our community has more youths in the correction centers and jail! Why? As adults, parents, guardians, relatives and friends, we must stop--right now!!--and take the time to find some answers. It is a lot cheaper and beneficial to pay one of the Boys Clubs $7.00 for a membership than it is to pay an attorney $700.00. So get one of the youths a membership today, it may help him tomorrow.

EVENTS: Sunday, March 20th is history. The Kiwanis Club of Puget Sound had their first Membership Round-up at the Executive Inn. The music was provided by Kevin Halliburton and the Halliburton All Stars. H. R. (Rock) Thomas showcased the 1983 Afro Pageant Princesses. There were some brilliant remarks made by Richard Rolle of Baker Jr. High school and Lukia Neal of McIlvaigh Jr. High school, who were the PUSH/EXCEL Oratorical Competition winners. I am asking all of you to please support these young people, they are crying out for help. These kids need us NOW! Remember that movie, I'll Cry Tomorrow?, Well let's cry today.

Access to the lift will be by key only. Keys are available at the Information and Reference Department on the first floor of the Main Library.

SUMMER POPS' CONCERT SERIES PERFORMERS SOUGHT

The Tacoma Arts Commission is accepting applications from musicians to perform as part of the Summer Pops' Concert Series. The deadline for applications is March 31, 1983. For further information, contact Kira Bacon, 591-5191.

NDABA CULTURAL ENSEMBLE'S AUDITIONS

Ndaba Cultural Ensemble will hold audition for its mini-season, which will consist of two plays, "For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Suicide/ When The Rainbow Is Enuf," and "Livin' Fat". Auditions for Colored Girls will be held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday, April 16; and auditions for "Livin' Fat" will be held 9 a.m. - 6 p.m Saturday, April 23, at the Tacoma Actors Guild Theatre, 1323 South Yakima. I CORINTHIANS

CHAPTER 10

Moreover, brethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, how that all our fathers were under the cloud, and all passed through the sea;

And were all baptized unto Moses in the cloud and in the sea;

And did all eat the same spiritual meat;

And did all drink the same spiritual drink; for they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them: and that Rock was Christ.

But with many of them God was not well pleased: for they were overthrown in the wilderness.

Now these things were our examples, so the intent we should not lust after evil things, as they also lusted.

Neither be ye idolaters, as were some of them; as it is written, The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play.

Neither let us commit fornication, as some of them committed, and fell in one day three and twenty thousand.

Neither let us tempt Christ, as some of them also tempted, and were destroyed of serpents.

Neither murmur ye, as some of them murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer.

Now all these things happened unto them for ensamples: and they are written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the world are come.

Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall.

There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it.

We welcome news of your church and civic events.

OLDEST HUMAN DIES

Cynthia Fitzpatrick

Cynthia Fitzpatrick, said by her family to be born 118 years ago to slaves when Abraham Lincoln was President, died in her sleep, February 22.

If her age is authenticated, it would be the oldest on record for a human. Mrs. Fitzpatrick, born in Pontotoc, Miss., to slave parents, died in the home she shared with her 58-year-old granddaughter.

Acting Secretary Thomas R. Donnelly Jr. today announced that the Department of Health and Human Services would publish interim final regulations to protect handicapped infants from being discriminatorily denied nutrition or medical care.

The notice advised that anyone having knowledge that a handicapped infant is being discriminatorily denied nutrition or medical care should immediately contact a toll-free 24-hour HHS hotline, or the state child protective agency, to report the alleged violation. The notice also will state that "failure to feed and care for infants may also violate the criminal and civil laws of your state."

HHS, in enforcing the regulation, will also rely on the voluntary cooperation of state and local agencies, which "are closest to the scene of alleged violations, for speedy complaint investigations".

THE BIBLE SAID IT.

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth, and the earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of the deep, and the spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.
And God said let there be light and there was light.
You will note that the earth had no form and was void, and their was darkness.
God in reality spoke himself into realization of being God.
There was nothing for him to Lord over or to be God over untill he spoke himself into existence.
Afterwhich the Trinity became a reality in God,
And the spirit being the executive of the Trinity moves in the father and the son and they agree as one.
So therefore you have the first mystery of God that came into existence at the same time, there fore as a witness that they are one and that they work as one.
Jesus the son of God commision his disciples.
Mathew 28 chapter,verses 19 & 20.
Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the father, and of the son, and of the Holy Ghost.:
Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and lo I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world. Amen.

NEW BROWNIE RECIPE

The flavor of cinnamon creates a new dimension to brownies. Pictured above are Spicy Blondies (butterscotch) and fudgy Iced Cinnamon Brownies.

Spicy Blondies

- 3/4 cup all-purpose flour (unsifted)
- 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
- 1 egg, lightly beaten
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 1 cup golden raisins

Preheat oven to 350 F. Grease and line with waxed paper an 8-inch square baking pan; grease again and set aside. Combine flour, cinnamon, baking powder, nutmeg and salt; set aside. In a large bowl cream butter until light and fluffy. Add brown sugar; beat until light and fluffy. Mix in egg and vanilla extract. Gradually stir in reserved flour mixture; mix until blended. Stir in raisins. Spread in prepared pan. Bake just until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean, about 25 minutes (mixture will feel soft to touch but will harden upon cooling). Let stand for 10 minutes; loosen edges with a spatula; turn out onto a wire rack to cool. Cut into 2-inch squares. Store in a tightly covered tin. Yield: 16 squares.

NEW LAW APPROVED AGAINST DRUNK DRIVERS

Two Democratic representatives, Bill Smitherman of Tacoma and Paul Zellinsky of Bremerton, expressed pleasure with House approval of a major DWI package that stiffens penalties but vowed to continue work for even tighter measures and more alcohol safety programs.

Passage of House Bill 289 by a 94 to 1 vote "is a major step in translating the will of the people into legal action," Smitherman said.

"Suddenly the shoe is going to be on the other foot and the drunk driver will be the one who has to prove the breathalyzer test was wrong, or that he or she did take it. Otherwise that driver's license is gone, no if's, and's, or but's," Zellinsky said.

Both legislators said that, if approved by the Senate, the new law would make law enforcement easier, more certain and more rapid.

"Once word gets around that there's no easy way to beat a DWI rap, I think the number of cases will begin to decline," Smitherman concluded

LABOR DEPARTMENT LABELS TEAMSTERS' CENTRAL STATES PENSION FUND STORY "MISINFORMED"

Secretary of Labor Raymond J. Donovan labelled as "misinformed" an article in the March 10 Wall Street Journal reporting that the Department of Labor has approved a proposed settlement of several law suits brought against the Teamsters' Central States Pension Fund by fund beneficiaries and participants. The private litigations in part parallels Labor Department allegations of asset mismanagement against the former trustees of the fund in Donovan vs. Fitzsimmons.

Secretary Donovan said the report that the Department had approved the settlement was without foundation. Further, the Secretary stated that even if the proposed settlement is approved by the court over the Department's objections, the Department would continue to pursue the litigation in Donovan vs. Fitzsimmons.

"ALL SAVERS" CERTIFICATE GIVE INTEREST TAX BREAK

Taxpayers who bought qualifying "All-Savers" Certificates can exclude up to $1,000 ($2,000 on a joint return) of the interest on those certificates from income on their 1982 tax returns, according to Michael J. Quinn, Seattle IRS District Director.

Certificates that qualify were issued between October 1, 1981 and December 31, 1982. They had a maturity of one year and paid interest equal to 70 percent of the investment yield on the most recently issued 52-week Treasury bills.

All Savers-Certificates cannot be contractually linked to any other investments or benefits and still be tax free, Quinn further stated. If they are, the interest is not tax free.

For more information on All-Savers Certificates, request IRS Publication 550, "Investment Income and Expenses", available by phone or using the order blank in the tax package.

An Independent View from Capitol Hill

A major effort by the Democratic majority to pass a nuclear freeze resolution in the U.S. House of Representatives failed last week. It failed because the Democratic leadership's support of an "immediate, mutual and verifiable nuclear freeze" is only lukewarm.

The resolution calling for such a freeze on nuclear weapons between the United States and the Soviet Union, survived test votes in the House--but final consideration stalled on an overload of proposed amendments by opponents of the idea, mainly Republicans. However, since the Democratic-controlled Rules Committee had voted to allow unlimited debate on this issue, the Republican minority prevailed, and conclusion of the debate and dilatory tactics was postponed until after the Easter recess of Congress.

I was one of the first legislators to speak out loud and clear for peace and the need for a freeze and reduction in nuclear weapons last year when I cosponsored H.J.RES 521 in the 97th Congress. H.J.RES 521 was the nuclear freeze resolution defeated last year when a coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats adopted a Republican substitute.

A December 1982 Gallup poll showed that 71 percent of all American adults are in favor of an immediate United States and Soviet freeze.

It no longer is enough to just "me too" the Reagan madness. A clear difference needs to be established for the American people. Someone must stand clearly for peace.

TO BE EQUAL

The general consensus seems to be that the new high-technology industries will be the engine of our economy's growth, replacing the millions of jobs destined to be lost in the traditional smokestack industries.

Proponents of the high-tech future say it will result in a mass upgrading of work skills, and therefore higher salaries and more job satisfaction for American workers.

But that's doubtful. The U.S. Department of Labor projects that 25 million new jobs will be created in the decade of the eighties.

Secretaries are the top ranking occupational category in job growth, with an expected 700,000 new jobs. Nurses aides and orderlies are second, and janitors are third. Not until slot number 23 do we find a high-tech profession, computer systems analyst.

By the end of this decade, a decade in which our econmy is supposed to move into the post-industrial era, there will be a far greater demand for fast food workers than for computer technicians-

Great changes in the economy have traditionally been associated with social dislocations and human upheavals. The industrial revolution and the decline of farming offer enough such lessons to warn us of the dangers of swift change that destroys millions of jobs.

Unless planned adjustment to the future economy is begun now, then we may be on the path to terrible suffering. The pain now taking place in America's ghettos and steelbelts is an example of what lies in store for us without intelligent planning.

Neither a blind rush into a new high-tech era nor an equally blind clinging to an outmoded past solve the need to develop a balance economy with opportunities for all.
